“ Jean Fasi was a remarkable person. I first met her when my husband Doug and I spent a weekend in Benicia before our daughter Sarah was born. In those early years we were the typical mother and daughter in law who shared a common interest, her son. We did not know each other well, and so our conversations with one another were careful and polite. Over the years as she came to visit us during hunting seasons she became a treasure to look forward to for that week when Dick and her would drive out to Colorado from California. It was a loss to me when she could no longer make that trip. One of the best and most hilarious times I remember was during one hunting trip she was cooking dinner for us, we had been out all day, the weather was bad, and we returned cold, hungry and tired. Mom was watching the kids and cooking dinner which was not quite ready yet, I think it was Ziti and sausage. The guys snapped at her coming in the door, grumpy because the food was not yet ready, and Dick piped up with some snide comment, "Hop to it, Hop Sing!, what's the holdup?". Mom responded by threatening her boys with a wooden spoon in the kitchen, and a "Watch it" remark with Mom's all business tone to go with it. We all started jumping in with various Hop Sing remarks, and finally we decided we were going to get her a camp cook T shirt that said Hop Sing on it. Mom was an excellent cook and she taught me a lot of things in the twenty years I was privileged to know her, and one of the most important was not to sweat the little stuff. She was my best friend and I will miss her the rest of my life. Love Donna
