

Carolyn F. "Oma" Huettenhain

April 19, 1940 - June 2, 2017

Carolyn Huettenhain, 77, of Benicia passed away Friday at her home following a long illness. She grew up in Exeter, Virginia, a small town in the heart of the Appalachian Mountains, but has called Benicia her home since 1977. Although she lived most of her life in California, she never lost her southern charm and hospitality.

Carolyn met the love her life, Horst, back in Virginia, or the "holler" in 1972 and they were married for 42 years. She had a distinguished career at Coldwell Banker Solano Pacific as their Corporate Director, where she met many lifelong friends. Carolyn enjoyed traveling with her friends and family and was an avid reader. She also was very passionate about her children and grandchildren and loved to have family gatherings at the "big house".

Carolyn is survived by sons Todd (Dana) and Neil (Kelli) Huettenhain; daughters Petra L'Abbe and Barbara McBride; daughter-in-law Corinne Deloso, and her grandchildren Shannon, Jeffrey, Emma, Maddie, Megan, Hannah, Sara & Michael. She was preceded in death by her husband Horst in 2015 and son Phil in 2007.

An open house will be held at the Huettenhain family residence on Sunday, June 11, 2017 from 5:00 to 8:00 pm.

“ I remember Carolyn well...she was always such a nice lady. Also, remember how happy everyone was for her when she met the love of her life. So sorry to hear of her passing, but so glad she enjoyed a great life. (I also grew up in Exeter) Sue Hopkins Smith

“ I always admired my cousin, Toddle. She was the epitome of the word lady. I was with her and Gil, Todd, and Neil at Powell Valley lake when we first met Horst. He followed us home and that was the beginning of one of the best love stories in history. I send my love and prayers to all of the family. She will truly be missed. Love, Kim
