

Elizabeth "Betty" Hensley

December 18, 1933 - March 4, 2026

There are moments when the world grows still, and memories rise - reminding us of all your love that never truly dies. Your laughter echoes and memories of your smile light the way, and though we cannot see you now, you're with us every day.

Though our hearts are aching and our tears may fall like rain, we know that love like yours endures and finds a way to remain. And one day, when the time is right, beyond the grief and pain, we'll see your face and hold you close, and be together once again.

So, rest in peace - your work on earth is done. But know your love still carries us, like rays of morning sun. And though we miss you deeply, we walk with something true - the best of who we've come to be is all because of you.
