

Norman Joseph Green

July 27, 1949 - April 25, 2026

Norman J. Green, born July 27, 1949, in Panama City, Panama, passed away peacefully on April 25, 2026, after fighting a valiant battle with dementia and cancer. His strength, resilience, and unwavering spirit carried him through life's many challenges with dignity and courage.

Norman was raised in Rainbow City, Canal Zone, where he spent his early years before moving to New York City as a young man. There, he proudly served his country as a member of the United States Army's 82nd Airborne Division. After completing his tour of duty—what he often referred to with humor as “doing time”—he returned to New York City, where he began building both a family and a remarkable career.

Norman was the proud father of two children, Ejhlak Johans Green and Ahisha Tasha Green, whom he loved deeply. He went on to establish a long and accomplished career in information technology. He began as a computer operator at Manufacturers Hanover and Loeb, Rhodes & Co. at 40 Wall Street. As his career advanced, he worked with Guardian Life Insurance, where he traveled nationally setting up offices with computer hardware. He later joined Morgan Stanley, installing large mainframe computer systems. Norman concluded his professional journey at SIAC (Securities Industry Automation Corporation) as a Disaster Recovery Manager. In this critical role, he and his team developed contingency plans to ensure the continued operation of the New York and American Stock Exchanges in the event of disaster.

On September 11, 2001, what began as a normal workday would become one of the most defining moments of his life. Working out of Brooklyn, Norman took the last PATH train into the World Trade Center and the last subway train out. Without hesitation, he arrived at work and immediately activated the disaster recovery plan. Thanks to the efforts of Norman and his team, the stock exchanges were operational the very next day, demonstrating his dedication, leadership, and commitment under unimaginable circumstances. Norman is survived by the love of his life and devoted wife of 44 years, Donna L. Green; his beloved children, Ejhlak Johans Green and his wife Shajuan and Ahisha Tasha Green Noel and her deceased husband David whose; three grandchildren, Angel M. Green, Bernard E. Johnson, and Desteny J. Noel; and five great-grandchildren, Jaden, Journey, Justin, Jade, and Zaire. He is also survived by his sister, Albertina Thorne; his nephew, Patricio Thorne; his sister-in-law, Cecelia Thomas; his brother-in-law, Gregory J. Hannah; and a wide circle of cherished friends.

Norman will be remembered for his strength, his humor, his dedication to his family, and his quiet heroism in both everyday life and extraordinary moments.

The Love of My Life

Norman always said, "If anything bad happens to one of us, let it be me." And in many ways, he lived those words every day.

As written in John 15:13: "Greater love has no one than this: to lay down one's life for one's friends." These words reflect the kind of love Norman gave so freely, the ultimate expression of sacrifice, devotion, and care.

He will be deeply missed and loved forever.

“ I met Norman while we were both working for SIAC in Brooklyn in the 1990s and early 2000s. He was one of my favorite coworkers, he was kind and I could always count on him to support me. When I think of Norman one word comes to mind - beautiful. He loved to use that word to describe life and I use it to describe him! I treasure the memory of Donna and Norman attending our wedding in 2002, we have great memories of them sharing the day with us. What I treasure the most is that after all of these years that Norman and Donna are still part of my life. We love you Norman! You will always be in our hearts, Lynn Minutaglio and Jim Schmitt

“ Dear Donna, Rosendo and I send our condolences in the passing of your beloved husband and our dear uncle Norman. He was such a warm, friendly and loving person. We have fun memories of the time the four of us spent while in Panama and later at your beautiful home. Norman and you took us around town, visited with your friends and especially enjoyed wine tasting at wineries in the Napa Valley. Norman is absent in body but present with the Lord. May God's comfort, strength and peace be yours and the family now and always.

“ Dear Donna, I cannot find any words that can remotely convey my heartfelt sympathy because I truly understand what it feels like to lose the presence of the one human who God created to be your lifetime partner. As Queen Elizabeth said when she lost her Prince, "sorrow is the price we pay for great love ".

But as you know, God has you, and He made a way for sweet memories to eventually replace today's deep sorrow and eventually, He will turn your sad tears into quiet smiles and even occasional loud laughter when something about Norman suddenly pops into your mind...but that may take a while.

While you journey from now to then, God will help you always, hug Norman's pillow when you sleep, view his photos when awake, feel the love that family and friends send your way.

I remember meeting Norman because he was friends with my Martin. I remember when he visited us when we were still living in Panama, Republic of Panama and he brought you with him. Norman was tall, dark and very handsome and you were slender, fair and very pretty. I remember how easy it was to like you both.....it was clear that the love you both shared was the everlasting kind.

I remember the days we four spent together at a resort in New Mexico years later, sharing easy friendship; the men golfing, we women "SPAing", the four of us talking through the night. I remember admiring how gentle Norman was toward you.... always kind, protective, cheerful.....a great guy.

Like so many who were fortunate to spend time with him, I will always remember him that way.

While I will always wish he was still with you, I am happy that he was blessed to have a loving devoted wife like you and that now he has been freed from earthly suffering and his spirit is resting peacefully with God. May the angels be with you now Donna.

“ In Loving Memory of Norman

Some people enter your life quietly and leave a permanent mark. That was Norman.

I met my great uncle for the first time in high school, brought together by grief — the passing of his older sister, my grandmother Mavis. While others came, paid their respects, and moved on, Norman stayed. He took the time to truly know each of us, and in doing so, became one of the most constant and treasured presences in my life.

Norman was the first person to put me behind the wheel of a car and trust me not to crash it. He was one of my loudest and most sincere cheerleaders when I made the bold decision to leave home for college — the kind of support that makes you believe in yourself a little more. He was my rival across many a Scrabble board, and I won't pretend those games were easy.

But above all, Norman was loving, generous, and genuinely himself — always. There was no performance in him, only warmth.

To have known him was a gift I didn't take for granted, and one I will carry forward always.

May he rest in peace, knowing the love he poured into this family did not go unnoticed — and will never be forgotten. The legacy he leaves behind is written in every life he chose to show up for.

Rest well, Uncle Norman.
